HOLCO WINS 2011 IN-BUSINESS AWARD

Leading Australian meat wholesaler Holco Fine Meat Suppliers was this month (October) presented with the 2011 Rising Star Award at the 2011 In-Business Top 100 Awards in Adelaide.

Holco currently employs 300 full time and casual staff at three production sites in South Australia, Queensland and the Northern Territory.

Each week Holco processes and delivers around 300 tonnes of fresh beef, chicken, lamb and pork products to restaurants, cafes, supermarkets, commercial caterers, mining sites and healthcare organisations.

“Holco is currently expanding its business and has recently opened production operations into Queensland,” said Holco Managing Director Mike Rankin.

“This award was based on our performance over the past 12 months, and I was pleased to accept it on behalf of my hard working team at Holco.”

With annual revenue in 2010/11 of $117 million, the company was also ranked at number 39 in the 2011 Top 100 South Australian Company Index.

Run by South Australian publication ‘In-Business’, the awards are part of an annual Top 100 performance listing of private companies that are over 50.1% South Australian owned or are public companies based in South Australia.
